The Ungrateful Villagers

Long ago, an old chief told his people to grow rice so that they would always have food to eat. The villagers obeyed him. They all worked very hard. At harvest time, there was enough rice for everyone for a very long time.

'We have nowhere to store the rice grains,' some young men cried. The chief said, 'I will use my magic and store the rice grains inside these trees. When you need food, I will take the rice grains from the trees and give them to you.'

Some months later, some villagers went to the chief. They shouted, 'You are keeping everything for yourself. We want all the rice grains now!' The chief was very angry and he threw his spear at the trees. It went into one of the trees. Rice grains came pouring out of all the trees. They were everywhere on the ground.

The chief said, 'I wanted to make sure you have rice for a very long time. Now, you must work hard to plant rice all your life or you will have no food.'

The comprehension book for pupils is good - with a variety of interesting texts and activities. However, this answer book is not good value for money as it gives very basic answers and no sample answers or guidelines/mark schemes for the writing activities - which is essential for teachers preparing pupils at this critical stage (foundation GCSE). This needs reviewing.
